No Agreement on Civil Rights Eastland Denies

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today there is no agreement between Republicans and Southern Democrats to delay action by Congress on a civil rights program until next year.

Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee which is considering an administration bill, was asked if he had any such agreement with Republican members.

"No, sir," Eastland replied. Then he added with a grin: "I wish I had."

Chairman Bridges (NH) of the Senate Republican Policy Committee said he knew of no agreement, informal or otherwise, to stall action on civil rights. Bridges favors the administration bill. Eastland opposes it.

There have been some published reports that Republicans would be willing to go along with a delay which would keep the issue alive to provide an election year split among Democrats in 1958.

Southern Democratic opponents have shown they are willing to seize any opportunity to delay a showdown on a program most of them fear will win Congress' approval if it ever reaches a showdown vote.

Their hopes of avoiding such a vote were raised somewhat yesterday when committees of both houses delayed action on similar bills.

The Senate Judiciary Committee failed to muster enough members to transact business and consideration of the administration's bill went over for at least another week.

The House Rules Committee adjourned without acting on a motion which would have called for a vote next week on sending civil rights legislation to the House for action.

A short time later, however, Chairman Smith (D-Va.), an opponent of the bill, said hearings will be held after the Easter recess ends April 29. He conceded the Rules Committee will approve the bill.

Southerners have made it clear they will filibuster any attempt to bring the bill up in the Senate. With money bills and other legislation piled up after the Easter break, leaders might find it difficult to give up several weeks to the civil rights fight if they expect to wind up Congress' work by Aug. 1.

Local Lions Club Names New Officers

There were 54 members present at yesterday's meeting with one guest, Hubert Thrash.

Children's Colony Location Sought

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Directors of the proposed Arkansas Children's Colony heard a consultant's advice here today on possible locations for the institution.

The consultant was J. Thomas McIntire, superintendent of the Arizona Children's Colony. He has visited six potential sites here in the past few days.

The colony will have $1,200,000 in legislative funds available July 1.

Paper Co. Buys Timber in Hempstead

International Paper Company spent approximately 264,752 for wood purchases in Hempstead County in 1956, according to C. G. Snyder, Wood Procurement Superintendent of the Camden Mill. This money was shared by farmers and other landowners, wood labor, wood processors, wood dealers and local business men.

Mr. Snyder pointed out that good timber stands should be thinned periodically to keep them in top growing condition. Timber marketing services by qualified foresters are available to landowners without charge from the Company, other wood-using companies and state agencies.

"Trees removed because of crowding, disease or poor form can be sold for pulpwood," said Mr. Snyder. "This speeds the growth of better trees left for sawtimber, poles and pilings, which may be sold for higher prices than pulpwood."

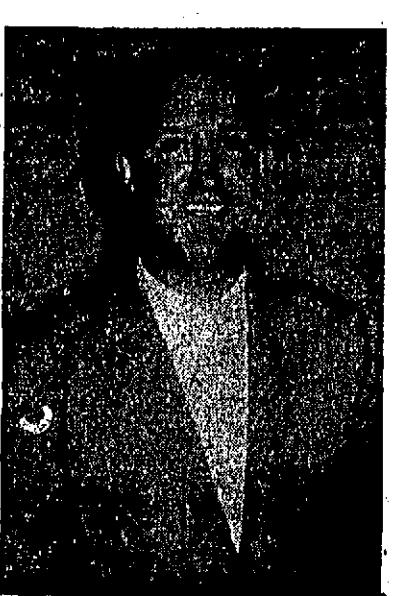

International Paper Company provides a continuing market for trees harvested from local tree farms and, while independent "producers" cut most of the pulpwood, it is possible for farmers to harvest their own trees. "Anyone interested in harvesting his own pulpwood can obtain wood specifications and arrange for the services of a trained forester by writing to P. O. Box 5311, Camden, Arkansas," Mr. Snyder added.

GAS STATION ROBBED
GUY (UP) — Two robbers held up a service station here last night and escaped with $622.

Jeff Mercer, 40, and his partner, Joe Glover, 35, said they had just closed the station for the night. Sheriff Joe Castleberry said the two men were forced back into the station and told to lie on the floor while the robbers fled with the cash in a money sack.

Mary Jean Sparks
RECENTLY a Hope High Junior, Mary Jean Sparks, was elected state high school member at large at a conference of the Arkansas Chapters of Future Teachers Association at Little Rock. One other high school student in Arkansas holds the position, the rest of the officers being college students. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Sparks, Southland Heights. Her faculty sponsor is Mrs. P. L. Perkins. Some 29 Hope students attended the meeting.

Cline Franks
ELECTED President of the Hope Lions Club in session yesterday was Cline Franks, local fruit wholesaler.

Emmet Negro Held for Two Burglaries

A 39-year-old Emmet Negro has been arrested for burglary here in which a total of $104.40 was taken from two local establishments. He is listed as Luther Lawson.

City Police Chief Jack Brown said Lawson admitted to taking $54.40 Sunday night from the Arkansas Machine and Specialty Shop and $50 the night of March 29 from O'Neal's Repair shop on South Walnut.

Chief Brown said Lawson had worked for both the establishments for over five years.

County Given Keep Arkansas Green Plaque

Hempstead County received the Keep Arkansas Green plaque for having the largest county delegation at the Youth Jamoree held Saturday, April 6, at the Jr. Deputy Summer Camp at Little Rock, according to Mrs. Lorraine B. Wylie, Home Demonstration Agent. One hundred and thirteen 4-H Club girls, boys, and leaders attended.

Highlights of the morning program included a talk "Being a Good Sportsman" by Tom Mull, Director of Education Department of State Game and Fish Commission, and a fire fighting demonstration by Ranger Jim Martin, Assistant State Forester.

A tour of Little Rock was held during the afternoon where the group visited the zoo, the Game and Fish Building and the National Guard Armory and airport. At the airport the group had the opportunity to inspect a jet bomber and see a jet take off and land.

Lunch was provided for the group at the Jr. Deputy Camp and refreshments were served at the airport.

Tornadoes in Carolinas Kill Six Persons

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Deadly tornadoes swirled across the Carolinas and Virginia last night after hitting three other Southern states earlier.

At least six were killed, all in North Carolina, and more than 150 were injured as business buildings and dwellings were torn to shreds.

Stormy weather, caused by the clashing of a cold front with warm Southern air, lashed other areas of the South with damaging winds, torrential rains and hail.

The worst of last night's tornadoes whirled their black funnels along a 150-mile strip through northeastern South Carolina and into eastern North Carolina.

Four members of two negro farm families living across the road from each other died in their homes as a twister hit the Highsmith Farms section southeast of Roseboro, N. C.

A Raleigh, N. C., couple were killed when their car crashed head-on into a truck near Raeford, N. C., during the peak of a wind and rain storm on the edge of the tornado area.

Hospital facilities in parts of the stricken area were flooded as injured were brought in by ambulances, private car and trucks.

All available rescue facilities were mobilized in the Carolinas but injured from isolated areas struggled in hours after the twisters hit. Communication and power lines were torn down, trees uprooted and buildings demolished.

No immediate estimate of damage was available, but it obviously ran into the millions.

The first South Carolina community was hit shortly after 6 p. m., and the storm hurried North Carolina until after 9 p. m.

A tornado struck the Norfolk area about 5:20 p. m., ripping roofs from buildings and tearing down wires. Norfolk was partially without power for an hour.

The twisters banged into northern Mississippi before dawn yesterday and wrecked more than $100,000 worth of property before moving eastward into Alabama, Georgia and the Carolinas.

More than 70 persons were injured at Falkville, Ala., and the storms also hit Hamilton, W. Va., and Grayson, Ala. Five were hurt at Hamilton.

Big Tankers Going Through Suez Canal

CAIRO (AP) — The two biggest tankers to use the Suez Canal since it was blocked last November entered the waterway at Port Said today — the first day the cleared channel was opened to ships of up to 20,000 tons.

One was the 19,418-ton Belgian tanker Elizabeth, the other the 20,778-ton Italian Fina Canada. They were bound for Middle East ports to pick up oil. Four other smaller ships were in the south-bound convoy.

The first passenger vessel to use the canal since the British-French-Israeli invasion was due at Port Said today to begin the 103-mile trip south to Suez. The ship is the 12,839-ton Italian liner Oceania, headed for Australia with 809 passengers.

While whistles shrilled and hundreds of persons watched from the banks, U. N. salvage crews raised and towed away the sunken Egyptian frigate Abukir yesterday. That cleared the channel for all shipping adapted to its 34-foot depth.

The Egyptian Suez Canal Authority gave no indication when capacity operation would be resumed. Before the canal was blocked, ships of about 40,000 tons could go through.

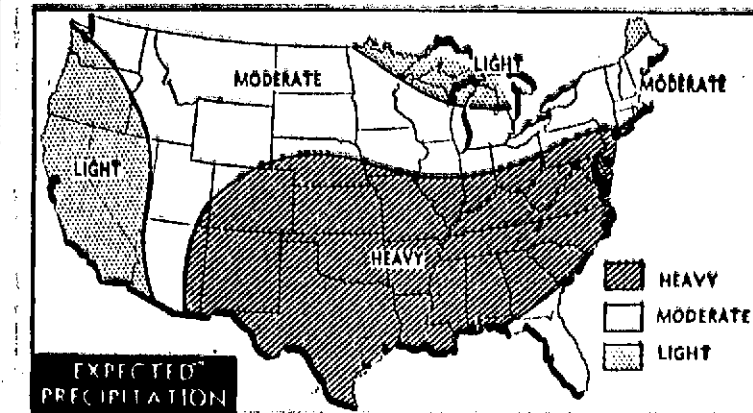

The only task left for the U. N. salvage crews headed by American Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler was repair of lighting, communications and navigational aids and work on one wreck outside the channel.

Faubus Commutes One Sentence

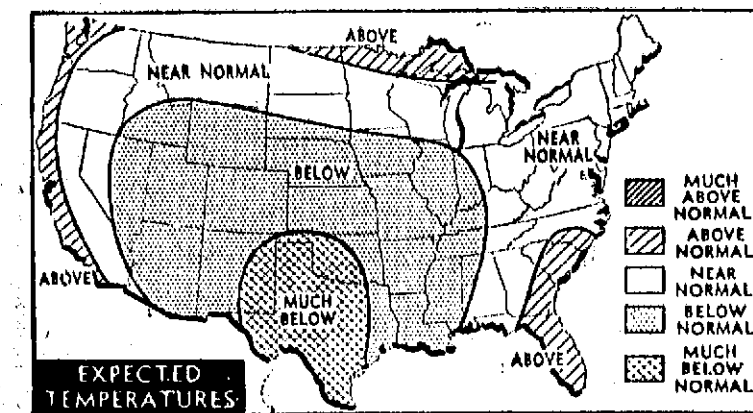

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — One commutation of a sentence was approved by Gov. Orval Faubus yesterday. He rejected two other recommendations by the state Board of Pardons and Paroles.

The governor granted a reduction in the life sentence of Fred Willoughby, convicted of first degree murder in 1950 in Randolph County. He reduced Willoughby's sentence to 21 years, making him eligible for parole.

Faubus refused to reduce a life sentence for R. B. Brown, sentenced for rape in Poinsett County in 1953. He also declined to reduce the 3-year sentence of D. W. Esleridge last January for grand larceny in Union County.

Northern and Pacific Coast areas will escape heavy downpours from now to May. Spring rains are expected to beat down in great volume on the Southeast and Southwest, with only Florida missing the torrents.

Much of the nation can expect to be chilly from now until May, with a great portion experiencing below-normal temperatures for the period. Texas and portions of Oklahoma and New Mexico will do the most shivering.

British Doctor Acquitted in Murder Trial

LONDON (AP) — Dr. John Bodkin Adams was acquitted today of a charge of murdering an 81-year-old widow to get a chest of antique silver and a Rolls Royce from her estate.

Atty. Gen. Sir Reginald Manningham-Buller immediately quashed a secret indictment accusing Adams of killing a second wealthy patient last summer.

Dr. Adams was allowed to walk out of the courtroom on bail but he still has minor charges hanging over him of violating the cremation act.

The jury of 10 men and 2 women deliberated only 44 minutes in order society doctor. The verdict ended a 12-day hearing in London's famed Old Bailey, the longest murder trial in British history.

Adams had been arrested after a prolonged Scotland Yard investigation into rumors that he had profited from the deaths of an unusual number of his wealthy aged patients in the seaside resort of Eastbourne.

The 260-pound, Irish-born doctor heard the verdict with the same composure that he had maintained throughout the trial. He had pleaded innocent to the charge but did not take the stand in his defense.

The prosecution contended that he had pumped massive doses of heroin and morphine into Mrs. Edith Alice Morrell, turning her into a drug addict and finally ending her life.

Marine Officer Admits Guilt, Kicked Out

By TOM PRICE

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (UP) — Marine Lt. William D. Conroy pleaded guilty today to attacking a private and was sentenced to dismissal from the Marine Corps.

Conroy pleaded guilty to one of two specifications charging conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman resulting from a March 9th assault on Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, of Hartford, Vt.

The sentence was the equivalent of a dishonorable discharge for an enlisted man. If it is approved by higher authority, Conroy will be banished from the armed forces for life and denied all veterans benefits.

The seven-member general court martial board deliberated 30 minutes before agreeing on the sentence, one of the toughest under the circumstances.

Due to a mixup newsmen and spectators were not present in the courtroom when the sentence was read but Lt. Col. Wilson E. Hunt, president of the court, said the sentence was "to be dismissed."

Since the sentence carried no imprisonment and the sentence was a discharge, neither approval nor dismissal or throw the sentence out entirely. Reviewing authority could not approve a prison term or fine in lieu of dismissal under the circumstances.

The sentence will be reviewed by Brig. Gen. Wallace M. Green, Jr., commanding general of this Marine Depot, and then by the Navy Judge advocate general in Washington.

Reuther Still Bigwig in UAW Union

By DWIGHT PITKIN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Walter P. Reuther appeared today to be in firm control of the United Auto Workers convention after winning overwhelming approval of everything he has proposed so far.

But the UAW president may encounter some opposition from a proposal of everything he has proposed to increase basic union dues of $2.50 to 3 a month.

The opposition developed last night at an anti-Reuther caucus led by Carl Stellato, president of the 44,000-member Ford Rouge plant local in the Detroit area.

A long-time critic of Reuther, Stellato urged his followers to maneuver for a roll call when the dues question comes up for a vote. But he said that would take 800 of the convention's 3,200 delegates and he wasn't over-optimistic about it.

Stellato said he opposed the dues increase "because home of it is going to the strike fund." He said the UAW's present 23-million-dollar strike fund should be increased to at least 100 millions. Reuther had everything his own way yesterday.

PSC Delays Rate Contract Hearing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Public Service Commission has postponed a hearing on Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co.'s controversial 1.33X contracts until a cost-of-service study is finished.

Under the contracts, a company receives a higher priority for gas in case of shortage in return for a higher rate.

Some firms charged last fall that Ark La had curtailed or shut off service to them in order to force signing of the premium contracts. Ark La denied this.

The hearing was scheduled after protests by several companies when the gas company filed some 155 contracts for PSC approval.

To Probe Big Payoffs in Labor Unions

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee dug deeper today into what Sen. Mundt (R-SD) called "cracked, under-the-table payoffs" to labor union officials and others in the New York City area.

Mundt, a committee member, told a reporter public hearings expected next month will show that "thousands of workmen" and the buyers of homes in two Long Island housing developments "all were gyped" by a sort of chain racket in corruption.

Mundt's statements came on the heels of a vote by the committee ordering a start of contempt proceedings against Nunzio J. Squillante, a former garbage collection operator on Long Island.

Squillante, refusing to turn over subpoenaed financial records, declined yesterday to tell the committee anything but his name and address. He invoked the Fifth Amendment on all other questions but refused to tell whether he honestly believed that answers might tend to incriminate him.

The committee called this "frivolous" use of the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination.

Chairman McClellan (D-AR) withheld details of matters about which Squillante was questioned, except to say they involved labor-management relations of some sort.

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — An explosion today touched off a spectacular fire that destroyed the heart of an American Oil Co. refinery just outside the city limits.

The blaze brought all available fire units and ambulances to the scene but apparently none of the 600 refinery employees was hurt. Early damage estimates by company employees ranged from $250,000 to $500,000.

El Dorado is a city of about 25,000 population just 20 miles from the Louisiana line, 20 miles south of Little Rock.

Employees said the explosion, of undetermined origin, occurred in a 75-foot tower in the thermal cracking unit, the heart of the refinery where crude oil is cracked into gasoline and other petroleum derivatives.

A resident who lives half a mile from the plant said he felt a rumble from the explosion and saw smoke from the oil-fled flames from a distance of four miles.

The fire was reported about 10:20 a. m. and was still burning an hour later but firemen successfully contained the flames in the cracking unit. For a time the entire refinery was threatened.

Company official said luckily no employees were in the tower at the time of the explosion and that he 15 employees in the area at the time have "been accounted for."

The nearby administration building was evacuated and other units of the refinery were shut down after the first alarm.

The unit processes about 40,000 barrels of crude oil daily. The refinery will be closed for several weeks, officials said.

Firemen attempted to remain as far as possible for the blaze, but they approached close enough to play streams of water on the blaze. Mrs. Dewey Finley of the El Dorado News-Times said that she could feel the heat from four blocks away.

The fire was similar to one at the plant in 1951 which killed an employee. The plant at that time was operated by Pan Am Oil Co.

There are no houses within half a mile of the plant. Firemen, who were called from off-duty in El Dorado and from Smackover, feared for a time that the flames would reach the other units and a huge storage unit about 100 feet high.

There was a report that the explosion was set off by a spark from a power line but this could not be confirmed.

News From State Capitol

State Capital, Bureau

LITTLE ROCK, April 8 (Special).—Probably not more than a dozen members of the legislature know it but Arkansas has adopted a new "state agency" it's the Arkansas State Horse Show, for which $15,000 annually has been appropriated.

Thereby hangs a tale. The first annual Arkansas Horse Show was held two years ago in Barton Coliseum on the Livestock Show Grounds. A revolving fund was raised by private donations amounting to more than $6,000. From proceeds of the 1955 show, the revolving fund was recovered and $6,000 profits donated to the Children's Colony Fund. Revenue was derived from program advertising, ticket sales, class sponsorships and entry fees. No state funds were involved.

The 1956, the show failed to show a profit. Most of the revolving fund was used in paying off a deficit of several thousand dollars. Members of the House Show Association are not in agreement in their estimates of loss, but they range as high as $4,000.

Aside from the financial angle, the show could probably be termed a success. Exhibitors took home substantial prize money—in the neighborhood of $10,000—plus trophies; they were entertained royally at the Little Rock Country Club, and the show horse magazines hailed it as an outstanding event.

The third annual show is scheduled for May 8-10. Like the first two, this one will have to get along without state money, but being ginning with the 1957-53 fiscal year.

Congress in Mood to Mow Ike Down

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's programs might have a better chance in Congress if he stuck out his jaw more. Unless he asserts strong leadership in his second term, he's apt to be run over.

Congress is in a whittling, independent mood. Further, as a last-term president, Eisenhower not only stands to lose some influence with Congress, even among his own Republicans.

But, so far as can be seen, he's doing pretty much what he did at the beginning of his first term. Then he seemed to think—and his job was simply to make recommendations to Congress without any hard follow-through.

This year he offered programs in keeping with what he called the New Republicanism. At his Nov. 14 news conference, the first after his re-election, he was asked how he intended to assert leadership for his modern Republicans. He replied:

"I am not one of the desk-pounding type that likes to stick out his jaw and look like he is bossing the show. I would rather try to persuade a man to go along."

But some of his most important programs now either are under attack, even by Republicans, or appear to be headed nowhere. There even appears to be lack of coordination—or leadership—within his own administration.

For example: The confusion over his budget. At first, he seemed to be inviting Congress to reduce it. They got this straightened out and Eisenhower got firmer on his figures.

Then Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, talked of cutting the budget three billion dollars. Last week Eisenhower came out against a cut of as much as two billion. And on the same day Treasury Undersecretary Randolph Burgess said, "he thought it would be fine if the budget could be cut two to three billion dollars."

There's hardly any doubt the budget will be slashed, with Eisenhower's Republicans joining Democrats to do it. And his four-billion-dollar foreign aid program, one of his most important, seems headed for some of the harshest taxing.

Eisenhower asked for money for federal aid to education. It's chances now look slim. And his civil rights program doesn't look like a good bet to pass either.

The President called in constitutional leaders to suggest a constitutional amendment for clarifying the take-over by a vice president when a president is disabled. That one is dead already.

About the only two important things Eisenhower has won from Congress so far are approval for his Middle East program—after many weeks of delay—and continuance of the excise and corporation taxes at their higher Korean War levels.

Eisenhower may not want to stick his chin out, but Congress this year shows a willingness to belt it even when he keeps it close to his chest.

Actor to Turn Talent to Screen Writing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor James Edwards is shelving his acting career to be a screen writer.

The reason is that Jimmy is a Negro. "Sure, I like to act," he remarks, "but I've got to think of security. There just aren't enough good roles that come along for a Negro actor."

He now is writing his third script for films, and he appears to be the first Negro to find success as a screen writer.

"As far as I know, only two others have tried it," Edwards said.

Jimmy is a Munice, Ind., boy, the first-born of nine children. His vacation because of falling health. He was admitted to New England Baptist Hospital.

Lady Eden accompanied her 69-year-old husband on the hurried 11,000 mile air trip.

He was reported resting comfortably at the hospital. Eden is being attended by Dr. Richard B. Cattell of the Lahey Clinic, who four years ago operated on him for a gall bladder condition.

When the bile tract failed to heal, Dr. Cattell went to London to visit Eden and decided to order him to Boston for further treatments.

On June 10, 1953, an artificial biliary tube was inserted and Eden made a good recovery.

At the height of the Near East crisis last fall, Eden suffered from nervous exhaustion and went to Jamaica for a rest.

He resigned his post last January and went to New Zealand for a rest and vacation.

A week ago medical advisers issued a statement that Eden had suffered a relapse.

Safecrackers Get $15,000 at Ft. Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Clever safecrackers battered through three walls last night to get to a three safes of $15,000 in cash and jewels.

Detective Clyde Grigsby said that the thieves entered a test room at the Soller Hat Works by knocking a lock off the door and then apparently had an accomplice replace the lock so that the break-in would not be noticed.

Grigsby said the burglars apparently opened a safe in the Tuff Bar with a single blow, Grigsby said. He called it a "knock and punch job."

The burglars knocked a hole in a partition to get to the Soller Hat Works, and the battered another opening in a brick wall to get to the adjacent Tuff Bar.

After looting the safe in the bar, they made a third hole in another brick wall and gained entrance to the United Army Store.

After looting the Army store safe of $8,745 in cash and about the same amount in jewels, the thieves then departed through the front door of the bar, Grigsby said.

The door to the rest room which the burglars first entered was still locked when the break-in was discovered, Grigsby said.

The cracking of the second safe was similar to the first, the detective related.

32 Killed in Crash of French Plane

PARIS (UP) — A fully loaded regularly scheduled Air France twin-engine DC-3 airliner crashed on takeoff at Biskra, Algeria, today, Air France officials announced. The 32 persons on board were killed.

Biskra is about 200 miles southwest of Algiers and 115 miles southwest of Constantine in northeastern Algeria.

Here's One Thing in Which State Leads

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas leads other states in its region in percentage of population consuming fluoridated water, the Arkansas State Dental Association was told today.

Dr. Lloyd W. Brenham of Piggott, president of the organization, cited the states use of fluoridated water and work in rural areas and among children as important "points of progress."

He said that rural health conferences "are well attended, and that nearly 100 local chairmen had united to present organized programs on children's dental health this year."

The association's 69th annual convention will end Wednesday.

In 1900 about 194 Americans per 100,000 died of tuberculosis compared to 10 in 194.

which starts July 1 the Arkansas State Horse Show Association can draw on the state General Revenue Fund for $15,000 annually. Of this, $12,500 is earmarked for premiums and $2,500 is for maintenance.

The idea did not originate with the Budget Committee. The Horse Show items were added to the Arkansas Livestock Show appropriation bill by an amendment offered by Senator Jerry Seaton of Hazen. It encountered no opposition in either the Senate or the House.

Obviously, it had the approval of Governor Faubus. From sources close to the chief executive it was learned that his interest was excited by Dr. J. R. Raney of Little Rock, president of the Arkansas State Horse Show Association. T. J. Raney & Sons, investment firm operated by Dr. Raney's brothers, was associated with W. R. Stephens in the Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. stock purchase from Cities Service Company in 1954.

One legislator, toward the end of the regular session, voiced the opinion that "there's a gas angle to just about everything this year."

The appropriation for the State Horse Show, embodied in the biennial allotment for the Livestock Show, seems to bear out that observation.

On even the roughest roads, you'll discover "the carpet is out." Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding, quieter-going "Inner Ford."

The power is bigger

DOROTHY DIX

New Excuse for Carousing to Cure Wife of Jealousy!

Dear Dorothy Dix: My wife is a fine woman, faithful, a good housekeeper with only one fault. She's jealous!

To teach her a lesson I started to play cards, drink, and left her alone with the baby most of the time. I thought she'd get used to it but as the years went by she became nervous and eventually got ulcers. I went on a vacation alone, last year. When I returned she asked if I'd go to church with her, give up drinking, shake off my friends and be a good husband. Of course I refused.

Then suddenly she became a different person. I came home late, drunk, and never a word did she say. She started to sleep in my daughters' room. The next thing I knew she was feeling better, laughing, singing, going out, making friends. She created an entire new life for herself — in which I had no part. I can't go near her; it's "kiss of death."

Now I realize I always loved her and would give anything for another chance. What can I do to win her back and do you think her love for me is dead?

REAL FOOL
Dear Real Fool: If I had your wife's name and address, I'd send her a medal. She might actually have become a permanent member of the martyred wives' society. Fortunately she shook off the shackles, and became a free woman.

The best thing that can be said for you is that you did manage to dig up a new excuse for drinking, gambling, philandering, and other forms of inconsiderable behavior.

If you're willing to put as much effort into winning your wife's love again as you put into losing it, you may have another chance. Only she can answer that question.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Some girls date boys they don't like, but I can't. Is this right?
MINERVA
Dear Minerva: So you refuse to date any male who isn't tall, dark, handsome, and sweeps you off your feet? How many such young men have you encountered? Don't you spend many lonely evenings?

Very, very frequently the boy who doesn't carry his assets in plain view is the one who's definitely worth knowing. Be experimental; date the next boy who asks you. Two dates may change your mind and make you a bit more flexible.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My soldier boy friend, who is a correspondence pal only, sent me an expensive watch for my birthday. I hate to hurt his feelings by returning it, but don't feel right about keeping it. He's hospitalized, and will be for another year.

ANDREA
Dear Andrea: Take this up with your mother and let her decide. If the boy's letters have been friendly, but nothing more, you might keep it. If, however, he's made any assumptions of a budding romance, nip it now by returning the gift. Let Mom know the circumstances, and follow her advice.

Dear Dorothy Dix: There are three girls in my department. Two of us get along fine, the third is unco-operative, disagreeable, can't see a joke and leaves most of the work to us. We hate this friction. What can we do?

DESPERATE FILE CLERKS
Dear D. F. C.: Feminine office help, of any kind, is so much in demand today that it's unnecessary for you to contend with such disagreeable conditions. Go to night school, study stenography, and be in a position to get a job at the top of the heap. Meanwhile, exercise patience. This is a quality that won't be taught at night school; it must be learned from experience.

Your future will include disagreeable as well as pleasant people. A mature adult can deal with both. The unamiable co-worker is adding to your education — but don't imitate her. Maybe you can even reform her.

If conditions become intolerable before you're ready for advancement, there's always the Help wanted section.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Last week I was invited to a party by a boy in my class. Mom said she didn't approve of him calling for me. She said I should meet him outside, or at the party. I think my folks should know the boys I go with. Don't you?

UNCERTAIN
Dear Uncertain: You're right, and your mother: I regret to say, is quite wrong. Either she's been misinformed about dating etiquette, or she doesn't want strangers in the house. It's her responsibility to meet, and to pass on, any boys you date.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband of six years had always been devoted. His attentiveness lasted through four months of my pregnancy, then suddenly stopped. He said there was no other woman, but there certainly was a cooling-off toward me.

When the baby was three months old, he packed up and left. He went home to mother, who has always ruled our roost. She and I have never gotten along. He's been with her six months now, comes to see us frequently, supports us adequately but, despite my urging, refuses to come home. How can I induce him to come back?

MARTA
Dear Marta: Mamma, apparently, can out-urge you. Since entreaties accomplish nothing, stop them. Welcome him on his visits home, be cheerful, attractive, show off the baby, then bid him goodbye, as if his going didn't mean a thing. He'll be intrigued, then curious, and finally may be interested enough to return — for good.

Says Fashion Making Sheep of Men Now

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — "Men are becoming sheep — just like women — in the field of fashion."

This bold statement comes from George Nader, the handsome, wavy-haired actor.
"I play an engineer in the picture so they thought I would look more natural in a crewcut," he explained. "Ridiculous! Do all engine wear crewcuts? Of course not."
"What's more, I deplore the large number of men who are adopting crewcut because so many other are doing it. Some have their hair cut short to hide bald spots or make themselves look younger. Why don't they just be natural instead of following the crowd. If your hair looks better cut short, do it—but not because it's the stylish thing to do."

That started him on a trade against the Ivy League styles, for men, which are all the rage these days. He spoke of the unpadding shoulders, the tiny lapels, the

Wide World Uses No Film on Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK — A basic rule of the game with Wide World is that everything must be done in live television, with no film allowed.

This makes the game of capturing themes and scenes of American life both more difficult and exhilarating.

Finding proper location scenes and appropriate intent nearly always amuse for Wide World is the job of a dark-haired, energetic woman named Evelyn Lifschultz, who has coined for herself the title of "location producer."

Like several members of the NBC programs staff, she's seldom in New York.
"I've had troubles," Miss Lifschultz said, "but 90 per cent of them are technical. In general the American people can do enough for you—even those who never saw a television set."

Take the Apache Indians. The United States never really subdued the Apaches—but Miss Lifschultz said, "The scene was Tombstone, Ariz., some time ago when Wide World decided it needed a couple of hundred Indians. The nearest were 150 miles away. Apaches who had had their wage standards inflated by Hollywood movie-makers on location.

held-stripped shirts with extra buttons on the back of the collar, the charcoal and other drab colors.
"I get a kick out of all the actors jumping on the bandwagon with the Ivy League styles," he said. "The fact is that there's only one guy who looks good in them, that's Cary Grant. The others look terrible."

"Most men don't have the figures for Ivy League clothes. They are designed for boys, not men. But men are abandoning their independence and following the fashions looking like the women—all looking alike and most of them looking pretty bad."

Frost Covers Arkansas But Little Damage

By The Associated Press

A wintry blast of frost and freeze chilled Arkansas last night and early today but apparently did little damage to the state's fragile peach and strawberry crops.

Peach farmers in north Arkansas had smoke pits ready to go last night but they were not used in most instances. The thermometer dropped to 28 degrees at Gilbert and Mountain Home and a light frost covered almost the entire northern half of the state.

Some peach farmers had said that their crops were safe from any temperatures above 22 degrees, although others said that a reading of 27 would cause some damage.

Partly cloudy skies and temperatures in the 60s were predicted for this afternoon, with minimums tonight ranging from the upper 30s to the upper 40s.

Miss McPeck, statistician for the Agriculture Department, said at Little Rock that he had only "indirect reports," but he said that here apparently was little damage.

"There 26-degree temperature, might have gotten some peaches," he said, "but some of them usually have to be thinned anyway. The slight multi-million-dollar peach crop will remain vulnerable to sub-freezing weather for about another 10 days—perhaps a shorter period for some varieties."

sembly adjourned, and that Fair bus did not have time to return the bill.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Roy Finch Jr., filed a motion to dismiss the suit.

The suit states that a bill automatically becomes law if the governor fails to act on it within five days while the Legislature is in session. Maddox claims the five days ran out before the Legislature adjourned March 14.

The attorney general's office contends the 5-day period expired three hours after the General As-

Nixon's Idea Praised by Both Parties

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four senators of both parties commended today Vice President Nixon's recommendation for more emphasis on U. S. relations with Africa to offset Communist infiltration and intrigue.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), assistant Senate Democratic leader, said Nixon's proposal for a new bureau of Africa affairs in the State Department already has been approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) agreed the idea of a separate bureau was better than "jumping this area together with South Asia and the Middle East as was done in the past."

Sen. Mundt (R-Wis.) said, "This is a vast new continent that requires new ideas." He lauded Nixon's suggestions for an increased exchange of students, leaders and technicians.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said Nixon's recommendations on his recent 22-day trip to eight African nations merit prompt congressional consideration.

"I have every confidence in the reports and recommendations," Aiken, also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee said.

Nixon's 3,500-word official report to President Eisenhower was made public during the week-end. It contained no startling new proposals, although Nixon mildly criticized some foreign aid operations and what he called information failures in that continent.

Nixon said Communist domination of Africa is "not a present danger," but he added that "Communist leaders consider Africa today to be as important in their designs for world conquest as they considered China to be 25 years ago."

He proposed economic aid "to the extent that our resources and the demands of other areas permit," but said other free world countries as well as U. S. government and private sources should help "to alleviate the con-

British Preparing for War of Future

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — NO need to feel alone if you have the feeling you don't know where you're heading because science is moving on fast in finding new way to make war.

The British, who have had plenty of their own scientists working on weapon, have just made the astonishing admission they're only now beginning to see through the scientific fog around war in the future.

Some recent events explain what's been happening and what looms ahead.

President Eisenhower at Bermuda promised British Prime Minister Macmillan this country would supply Britain with an intermediate ballistic missile, capable of carrying a nuclear warhead 1,500 miles, when it's ready.

When will it be ready? This past week Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said perhaps within months. That could be a year. He's chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which had just received secret testimony from Air Force officials.

This country is also developing intercontinental ballistic missiles, able to go 5,000 miles, but they are further from completion than the 1,500-mile type.

Russia suddenly began warning Britain, West Germany, the Netherlands, Denmark, Norway and Greece to expect annihilation in case of war if they let the United States build atomic bases — missile bases, no doubt — in their territory.

If this is the American government's plan, the public here doesn't know of it yet. Russia may have been guessing, or have had inside information through espionage, or have been expecting the worst.

But last Thursday Britain startled the world — but hardly the leaders of her allies, who must have known what was coming — by announcing she would now rely mainly on nuclear weapons and cut her traditional military establishment sharply.

It was in a white paper announcing this that the British said: "It has been clear for some time that... scientific advances must fundamentally alter the whole basis of military planning. 'But it is only now that the future picture is becoming sufficiently clear to enable a comprehensive reshaping of policy to be undertaken with any degree of confidence.'"

So the British planned on having guided missiles and a reduced air force because they'll rely more on ground-to-air missiles to stop attacking planes. They have atom bombs, hope soon to have hydrogen ones.

They will keep a small mobile army for emergency situations.

ditions of want and instability' in the area.

The staffs of some foreign aid missions could be reduced in size, he said, and embassy and information missions should be staffed with men and women "better capable of interpreting and explaining our policies" to the Africans.

Their greatest hope for discouraging a Russian attack and be their nuclear weapons and the nuclear power of the United States.

There was concern expressed that this move by Britain might encourage other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to reduce their forces too.

They probably will, also putting their main reliance on nuclear weapons. West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer is already calling for "nuclear weapons."

It is not hard for Russia, ringed now by American bomber bases, to foresee the day when she will be ringed by missile bases. But meanwhile the Russians are developing their own missiles.

Soon it will be a question: Who's scaring whom? It's possible American allies will be scared by the closeness of Russian missiles and begin to lose interest in alliances which might invite Russia to start a war if they don't deter her.

So while a new era of defense and attack is opening, a whole new era of problems begins for the United States.

Summerfield Shows No Sign of Weakening

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Summerfield and Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.) showed no signs of budging today in their dispute over Summerfield's demand for more money.

Summerfield says he must have an extra 47 million dollars to maintain full mail service until June 30. Cannon says the postal service has been spending too fast.

However, members of Cannon's Appropriations Committee predicted that group probably would vote enough additional money to avert sharp cuts in mail deliveries, already ordered to go into effect next Saturday.

Cannon repeated his statement that Summerfield's move to reduce service is an "unadmitted bluff." But Summerfield, interviewed on television and radio, said he isn't bluffing. He noted that this cutback ordered already is in the hands of postmasters throughout the nation.

He also said he was undaunted by a trade association's threat of legal action to halt an embargo of third-class mail, consisting of small merchandise and advertising matter, effective April 20. He said he would "resist" the suit because we do not think they are on sound ground.

The Associated Third Class Mail Users, which threatened Saturday to seek a restraining order, said, "It is our firm conviction that the postmaster general has no

European Men Won't Stand Back Seat Driver

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Europe is a strange continent where men are still so ruggedly independent they won't stand for backseat driving, pick up

"A husband there would not let his wife tell him how to drive," said Gilberte Thirion, a pretty sprout from Brussels who at 29 is Europe's top feminine auto racing star.

"He is the boss in the car, as well as in the home."

"It is an amaze to see so many women behind the wheel in this country. The man sit beside her like a small babe."

"In Europe if you see a man at a woman in the car, it is almost always the man who is at the wheel. He would not trust her to drive."

Miss Thirion, who has won 20 of the 80 races she has participated in during the last five years, came here for the international races at Sebring, Fla., last month.

Nagege Ferrier of Switzerland, piloted a Renault Dauphine and finished first in their small car category.

"I compete mostly against men," said the tawny-haired Belgian mademoiselle, who was named by her small nation as its top sports performer of 1936.

Trimly built-she is meter and 70 centimeters tall and weighs about 60 kilos-she showed the ar mina last year to win in her division of Italy's "Mille Miglia" race.

She first learned to pilot an old Army jeep and was trained in racing technique by her father, Max, a veteran racer himself. In a good year she picks up about $7,500 in prize money.

Her racing costume consists of a custom tailored jacket, mens trousers and a white crash helmet.

"My pants are blue," she says. Although European racing is notably dangerous to spectators as well as drivers, she has been hurt only once. In 1933 she broke a wrist in Italy.

Gilberte said, however, that ordinary American traffic made her more nervous than driving in a real race.

"It is very dangerous here," she said. "The speed limits are so low in this country that everybody falls asleep at the wheels, listens to the radio or starts talking to a passenger."

In three weeks Gilberte expects to marry her fiancé, a young French Alpine climber.

"He does not like too much the racing," she said, laughing. "He thinks it is too dangerous. But I tell him that I don't like it too much that he climbs the mountain. One can be hurt veree, veree bad falling from an Alp."

"I think maybe I give up the racing when I have children."

Around the World

PARIS, (UP) — Book lovers protested today that the French government has banned the sale of the English version of "Lolita," an off-beat novel about a middle-aged European immigrant and his love affair with 12-year-old American girl.

The Olympic Press, Paris publishers of the 105-page book, carried the protest further and said they will attempt to prove that "Lolita" is not pornography but fine art.

The novel, written by American College Professor Vladimir Nabokov, describes in detail the passion of the man for the adolescent girl. One of the key episodes describes its depraved hero and his child mistress touring America as father and daughter after a seduction aided by sleeping pills.

GLASGOW, Scotland, (UP) — Curious public utility inspectors who tried to find out why elderly Mrs. Chrystal of Inverboyndie used only six cents worth of electricity in three months reported today she uses the electric light only at dusk so she can see to light her oil lamps.

BEIRUT, Lebanon, (UP) — The Syrian government has decided to lift martial law in the Damascus, homes and Assuwayda areas, a Damascus broadcast reported last night.

EILAT, Israel, (UP) — Rival American and Danish crewmen of the first two ships to reach Eilat through the debated Aqaba gulf staged a beer-drinking contest yesterday.

A Danish crewman of the freighter Brigitta Toft, which arrived last month, downed 17 bottles. An American from the U. S. tanker which arrived here Saturday finished second with 15.

BEAUVAIS, France, (UP) — Marcel Bloch Dassault, owner of the aircraft plant which builds Mystere jet fighter planes, was elected senator in a by-election yesterday.

Assault as a resistance fighter during World War II, lost his deputy seat in the last national election. He was elected senator by 761 votes on a rightist ticket against 429 for his leftist Republican opponent.

LONDON, (UP) — Soviet geologist in Siberia are prospecting for diamonds from airplanes, Radio Moscow said today.

The broadcast said sensitive instruments in the plane record the size of the magnetic field below and when an unusually large magnetic field is located, further prospecting is carried out by land.

NAPLES, Italy, (UP) — A group of 82 Hungarian refugees in Italian camps leave from Capodichino airport today for Wagga Wagga in New South Wales, Australia.

They were among the first refugees to arrive in Italy following the Hungarian revolution last autumn.

four Hungarian army officers, accused of the Americans of photographing a Russian-occupied barracks. Gleason denied the charge and gave up a roll of color film reportedly showing family groups and landscapes. The Americans kept the doors of their station wagon locked and talked through a partly opened window.

Soviet troops were sent for and a Russian lieutenant colonel took charge. The Russians acted as interpreters while Hungarians conducted the questioning.
